Index

TO THE READER:

The cumulated index to the Journal of Marriage and the Family for 1963-1969 is divided in five sections:

A. Author Index to Articles - - - - -	81
B. KWIC Index to Article Titles - - - - -	36
C. Author Index to Books Reviewed - - - - -	86
D. Reviewer Index to Books Reviewed - - - - -	101
E. KWIC Index to Titles of Books Reviewed - - - - -	111

For ease of use, a single-entry index has been created. A full citation will be found under co-authors as well as first authors. In the case of book reviews, full citations are also given for the book reviewed as well as the location and the author of the review (in indented form). If the primary interest is in the book reviewed, section E provides bibliographic information on the book and the location of the review.

Please note that there is a change in the abbreviation used in citing the journal title. Users will find that in 1963 the title was Marriage and Family Living. Since 1964 the title has been Journal of Marriage and the Family. The abbreviations MFL and JMF have been given to discriminate between the titles.

KWIC

A keyword-in-context index is usually referred to as KWIC. It is a computer-generated index, wherein each article is indexed by every meaningful word used in the title of the article, thus permitting the same title to be located under a variety of headings. For example, an article by M. A. Straus, "Society as a variable in comparative study of the family by replication and secondary analysis" would be found under the following words:

REPLICATION
SECONDARY
ANALYSIS

In other words, it serves as a subject index, which can be used in the same way as a more traditional subject index. However, there are disadvantages in this kind of indexing as compared to the more traditional forms. Complete coverage of a subject depends on a search under all synonyms and antonyms. For example, if the reader were interested in articles on illegitimacy, complete coverage would require searching under the following:

Illegitimacy - - - - -	-6 articles
Premarital Pregnancy - - - - -	-1 article
Premarital Conceptions - - - - -	-1 article
Unmarried Pregnant Adolescents - - - - -	-1 article
Unmarried Mothers- - - - -	-1 article
Unwed Mothers- - - - -	-1 article

Using "illegitimacy" alone would retrieve only six articles out of the eleven available. This same retrieval technique can be used when searching for the titles of books which have been reviewed.

To the left of the KWIC index, there is an alphanumeric reference code. A typical code would be STRAMA68 30 N 565. This provides a partial citation, which is adequate in locating the article or book review. In the example, the code indicates that Straus, M. A. is the first author of an article.

which appears in the November 1968 issue (v. 30) of the journal, starting at page 565. The limitations of the program* which was used to produce the index necessitated using a four-letter abbreviation of the author's name.

As with all computer produced indices, some punctuation changes were made.

COMPUTER SUBSTITUTES FOR PUNCTUATION SYMBOLS

Punctuation		Computer Substitute
Symbol	Description	Symbol	Description
"	quotation marks	,,	two commas
( or [	parenthesis or bracket	/	slash
:	colon	.*	period and asterisk
;	semi-colon	.,	period and comma
?	question mark	$.	dollar sign and period
!	exclamation mark	/.	slash and period
'	apostrophe	-	hyphen

Please note that all corporate authors are listed anonymously.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This index was produced by the Minnesota Family Study Center for the National Council on Family Relations as a supplement to the Index to Volumes 1-24, prepared by M. A. Straus and Susanne C. Graham. (Copies of this publication are available from the National Council on Family Relations.)

The experience of these two persons was very helpful in planning the new cumulated index. I have attempted to incorporate the suggestions generated by the previous Index: the type is larger, the citations more complete, and it is now a single-entry index.

I wish to give special credit to Janice Linden who did all the key-punching, to the staff of the Minnesota Family Study Center who assisted me in the planning of the index, and to Dr. Reuben Hill, former director and Dr. Ira Reiss, present director of the Minnesota Family Study Center, who encouraged me to take on this project.
